Euroresins Group launch its new Website

Euroresins Group, one of the Europe's largest distributors in composites, is pleased to announce to our customers and partners the launch of our new website: www.euroresins.com

The new website is the result of a redesigning and redefining process of our digital presence which will accompany the objective of developing the business and at the same time offer an improved user friendly approach to its browsing experience, its layout of major sections and its quality content.

One of the majors improvements are the integration of our case studies and portfolio which highlight the projects we have completed and outline the value created for each customer as a result.

Amongst the new features, the site contains integrated social media buttons to faster improved communication with the customers.

We will be constantly updating our content with helpful information, articles, new products company announcements and customer successes in the News section.

Discover it!
